PART I INTERPRETATION

Meaning of "worker" and application of Act

- 1 (1) [Repealed by 2004:19]

WORKERS' COMPENSATION ACT 1965

(2) If in any proceedings for the recovery of compensation under this Act it appears to the court that the contract of service or apprenticeship under which the injured person was working at the time when the accident causing the injury happened was illegal, the court may, if having regard to all the circumstances of the case it thinks proper so to do, deal with the matter as if the injured person had at the time aforesaid been a person working under a valid contract of service or apprenticeship.

(3) Any reference to a worker who has been injured shall, unless the context otherwise requires, where the worker is dead, include a reference to his legal personal representative, or to his dependents or any of them or such officer as the Minister may appoint to act on behalf of the dependants of the worker.

PART II

COMPENSATION FOR INJURY OR OCCUPATIONAL DISEASE

Employer’s liability for compensation for death or incapacity resulting from accident

4 (1) If in any employment personal injury by accident arising out of and in the course of the employment is caused to a worker, his employer shall, subject as hereinafter mentioned, be liable to pay compensation in accordance with this Act:

Provided that—

- (a) the employer shall not be liable under this Part in respect of any injury which does not incapacitate the worker for a period of at least three consecutive days from earning full wages at the work at which he was employed; and

- (b) if it is proved that the injury to a worker is attributable to the serious and wilful misconduct of that worker, any compensation claimed in respect of that injury shall be disallowed:

Provided that where the injury results in death or serious and permanent incapacity, the court on a consideration of all the circumstances may award the compensation provided for by this Act or such part thereof as it shall think fit.

(2) For the purpose of this Act, an accident resulting in the death or serious and permanent incapacity of a worker shall be deemed to arise out of and in the course of his employment, notwithstanding that the worker was at the time when the accident happened acting in contravention of any statutory or other regulation applicable to his employment, or any orders given by or on behalf of his employer, or that he was acting without instructions from his employer, if such act was done by the worker for the purposes of and in connection with his employer's trade or business.

(3) No compensation shall be payable under this Act in respect of any incapacity or death resulting from a deliberate self-injury.

(4) No compensation shall be payable under this Act in respect of any incapacity or death resulting from personal injury, if the worker has at any time represented in writing to the employer that he was not suffering or had not previously suffered from that or a similar injury, knowing that the representation was false.

Compensation in fatal cases

5 Where death results from the injury—

- (a) if the worker leaves any dependants wholly dependent on his earnings, the amount of compensation shall be the "actual earnings" of the deceased in the three years prior to the incident, or three years of the average annual per capita income as recorded in the most recent official national statistics, whichever is the lesser, but where in respect of the same accident compensation has been paid under section 6 or section 7 there shall be deducted from the sum payable under this paragraph any sums so paid as compensation;
- (b) if the worker does not leave any dependants wholly dependent on his earnings, but leaves any dependants in part so dependent, the amount of compensation shall be such sum, not exceeding in any case the amount payable under paragraph (a), as may be determined by the court to be reasonable and proportionate to the injury to such dependants;
- (c) if the worker leaves no dependants, the reasonable expenses of the burial of the deceased worker not exceeding the sum of $2,000 and the reasonable expenses of medical attention as laid down in Part III shall be paid by the employer.

[Section 5 para (a) amended by 2004:19 s.5 effective 20 July 2004]

Compensation in the case of permanent total incapacity

6 (1) Where permanent total incapacity results from the injury, the amount of compensation shall be the "actual earnings" of the deceased in the four years prior to the incident, or four years of the average annual per capita income as recorded in the most recent official national statistics, whichever is the lesser.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), where an injury results in permanent total incapacity of such a nature that the injured worker must have the constant help of another person, additional compensation shall be paid amounting to one quarter of the amount which is otherwise payable under this section.

[Section 6 subsection (1) amended by 2004:19 s.6 effective 20 July 2004]

Compensation in the case of permanent partial incapacity

7 (1) Where permanent partial incapacity results from the injury the amount of compensation shall be—

- (a) in the case of an injury specified in the Schedule such percentage of the compensation which would have been payable in the case of permanent total incapacity as is specified therein as being the percentage of the loss of earning capacity caused by that injury; and
- (b) in the case of an injury not specified in the Schedule such percentage of the compensation which would have been payable in the case of permanent total incapacity as is proportionate to the loss of earning capacity permanently caused by the injury.

(2) Where more injuries than one are caused by the same accident, the amount of compensation payable under this section shall be aggregated, but not so in any case as to exceed the amount which would have been payable if permanent total incapacity had resulted from the injuries.

Compensation in the case of temporary incapacity

8 (1) Where temporary incapacity whether total or partial results from the injury, the compensation shall be the periodical payments hereinafter mentioned payable at such intervals as may be agreed upon or as the court may order, or a lump sum calculated accordingly having regard to the probable duration, and probable changes in the degree, of the incapacity. Such periodical payments shall be, a weekly payment of half the difference between the weekly earnings which the worker was earning at the time of the accident and the weekly earnings which he is earning or is capable of earning in some suitable employment or business after the accident:

Provided that—

WORKERS' COMPENSATION ACT 1965

- (a) no periodical payment under this section shall be at a higher rate than $170 a week;
- (b) neither the aggregate of the periodical payments nor the lump sum payable under this subsection shall exceed the lump sum which would be payable in respect of the same degree of incapacity under section 6(1) or section 7, as the case may be, if the incapacity were permanent;
- (c) the period covered by hospitalization or absence from duty certified necessary by a medical practitioner shall be regarded as a period of temporary total incapacity irrespective of the outcome of the injury, and any period subsequent thereto but preceding final assessment of disability shall be regarded as a period of temporary partial incapacity both periods being continuous with each other, variations in payments notwithstanding, and the maximum duration of periodical payments under this section shall not exceed eight years;
- (d) in the event of death or permanent incapacity following after temporary incapacity, no deductions shall be made from any lump sum payable under section 5, 6, or 7 by reason of periodical payments or a lump sum payment having been made under this section;

(2) In fixing the lump sum or periodical payments payable under subsection (1) the court may deduct the value of any payment, allowance or benefit including the value of any food, fuel or quarters, which the worker may receive from the employer during the period of incapacity.

(3) On the ceasing of the incapacity before the date on which any periodical payment falls due, there shall be payable in respect of that period a sum proportionate to the duration of the incapacity in that period.

(4) Where a worker in receipt of periodical payments under this section intends to leave Bermuda for the purpose of residing elsewhere, he shall give notice of such intention to the employer who may agree with the worker for the redemption of such periodical payments by a lump sum, or for the continuance of such periodical payments. If the employer and worker are unable to agree, either party may apply to the court which shall have jurisdiction to order such redemption and to determine the amount to be paid or to order the continuance of the periodical payments:

Provided that any lump sum so ordered to be paid together with the periodical payments already made to the worker shall not exceed the lump sum which would be payable in respect of the same degree of incapacity under section 6(1) or section 7 as the case may be, if the incapacity were permanent,

(5) If a worker in receipt of periodical payments under this section leaves Bermuda for the purposes of residing elsewhere, without giving notice as provided in subsection (4) or, having given such notice, leaves Bermuda as aforesaid without having come to an agreement with his employer for the redemption or continuance of such periodical payments, or without having made an application to the court under subsection (4), he shall not be entitled to any benefits under this Act during or in respect of the period of his absence. If the period of such absence shall exceed six months, the worker shall cease to be entitled to any benefits under this Act.

Method of calculating earnings

9 (1) For the purposes of this Act the weekly earnings of a worker shall be computed in such manner as is best calculated to give the rate per week at which the worker was being remunerated at the date of the accident:

Provided that—

- (a) where by reason of the shortness of the time during which the worker has been in the employment of his employer or the casual nature of the employment, or the terms of his employment, it is impracticable to compute the rate of remuneration in the manner aforementioned, regard may be had to the average weekly amount which during the year previous to the accident, was being earned by a person of similar earning capacity, in the same grade employed at the same work by the same employer, or, if there is no person so employed, by a person of similar earning capacity in the same grade employed in the same class of employment in Bermuda; and
- (b) for the purpose of assessing compensation payable in the case of permanent incapacity—
 - (i) where the worker was, at the date of the accident under the age of eighteen years his earnings shall be deemed to be such amount as, had he not met with the accident, he would probably have received upon attaining the age of eighteen years, or at the end of a period of five years after the accident, whichever calculation is more favourable to the worker; and
 - (ii) where the worker was, at the date of the accident, employed under a contract of apprenticeship or as an improver or learner, his earnings shall be deemed to be such amount as, had he not met with the accident, he would probably have received upon the completion of his apprenticeship or the period during which he was employed as an improver or learner.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), employment by the same employer shall be taken to mean employment by the same employer in the grade in which the worker was employed at the time of the accident, uninterrupted by absence from work due to illness or any other unavoidable cause.

(3) Where the worker has entered into concurrent contracts of service with two or more employers under which he worked at one time for one such employer and at another for another such employer, his weekly earnings shall be computed as if his earnings under all such contracts were earnings in the employment of the employer for whom he was working at the time of the accident:

Provided that the earnings of the worker under the concurrent contract shall be disclosed to any other employer at the time of his engagement with the latter and shall be taken into account only so far as the worker is incapacitated from performing the concurrent contract.

(4) Upon request of the worker to the employer liable to pay compensation, that employer shall furnish in writing a list of the earnings which have been earned by that worker upon which the amount of the weekly earnings may be calculated for the purposes of this section.

Persons entitled to compensation

10 (1) The compensation shall be payable to or for the benefit of the worker, or where death results from the injury, to or for the benefit of his dependants as provided by this Act.

(2) Where there are both total and partial dependants nothing in this Act shall be construed as preventing the compensation being allotted partly to the total and partly to the partial dependants.

(3) Where a dependant dies before a claim in respect of death is made under this Act, or, if a claim has been made, before an order for the payment of compensation has been made, the legal personal representative of the dependant shall have no right to payment of compensation, and the claim for compensation shall be dealt with as if that dependant had died before the worker.

Distribution of compensation

11 (1) Compensation payable where the death of a worker has resulted from an injury shall be paid into court, and the court may order any sum so paid in to be apportioned among the dependants of the deceased worker or any of them in such proportion as the court thinks fit, or, in the discretion of the court, to be allotted to any one such dependant, and the sum so allotted to any dependant shall be paid to him or, invested, applied or otherwise dealt with for his benefit in such manner as the court thinks fit.

(2) Where, on application being made in accordance with rules made under this Act, it appears to the court that, on account of the variation of the circumstances of the various dependants or for any other sufficient cause, an order made under this subsection ought to be varied, the court may make such order for the variation of the former order as in the circumstances of the case the court may think just.

(3) Compensation payable under section 6 or section 7 and lump sums payable under section 8 shall be paid into court, and the court may order any sum so paid in to be paid to the person entitled thereto or to be invested, applied or otherwise dealt with for his benefit in such manner as the court thinks fit.

(4) Nothing in this section shall prevent an employer from making any payment to a worker pending the settlement or determination of the claim and the court may order that the whole or any part of such payment shall be deducted from the amount of compensation payable to him under this section.

(5) Any other compensation payable under this Act may be paid to the worker or into court and when so paid in shall be paid by the court to the person entitled thereto.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION ACT 1965

(6) The receipt of a duly authorized officer of the court shall be a sufficient discharge in respect of any amount paid into court under this Act.

(7) Any order or directions of the court under this section shall be final.

Requirements as to notice of accident and application for compensation

12 Proceedings for the recovery under this Act of compensation for an injury shall not be maintainable unless notice of the accident has been given by or on behalf of the worker as soon as practicable after the happening thereof and before the worker has voluntarily left the employment in which he was injured, and unless the claim for compensation with respect to such accident has been made within twenty-six weeks from the occurrence of the accident causing the injury or, in the case of death, within twenty-six weeks from the time of death:

Provided that—

- (a) the want of, or any defect or inaccuracy in, such notice shall not be a bar to the maintenance of such proceedings if the employer is proved to have had knowledge of the accident from any other source at or about the time of the accident, or if it is found in the proceedings for settling the claim that the employer is not, or would not, if a notice or an amended notice were then given and the hearing postponed, be prejudiced in his defence by the want, defect or inaccuracy, or that such want, defect or inaccuracy was occasioned by mistake or other reasonable cause;
- (b) the failure to make a claim for compensation within the period above specified shall not be a bar to the maintenance of such proceedings—
 - (i) in the case of a worker whose earnings do not exceed such amount as may be prescribed; or
 - (ii) in the case of any other worker, if it is found that the failure was occasioned by mistake or other reasonable cause, so, however, that no proceedings for the recovery of compensation shall be maintainable unless the claim for compensation is made within a period of three years from the date of the accident.

Employer to report the death of a worker

13 (1) When the death of a worker by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment or from an occupational disease is brought to the notice of or comes to the knowledge of his employer, the employer shall, as soon as practicable after the occurrence of the death, give notice thereof to the Director of Labour and Training or to such other person as may be prescribed. Such notice shall state the circumstances of the death of the worker if they are known to the employer.

(2) Any employer who fails to comply with subsection (1) without reasonable cause commits an offence:

Punishment on summary conviction: a fine of $360.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION ACT 1965

(3) Nothing contained in this section shall prevent any person from making a claim for compensation under this Act.

[Section 13 amended by 2010 : 36 s.3(f) effective 16 July 2010]

Medical examination and treatment

14 (1) Where a worker has given notice of an accident the employer shall, as soon as reasonably possible after the date on which notice has been given, arrange to have him medically examined free of charge to the worker by a medical practitioner and any worker who is in receipt of periodical payments under section 8 shall submit himself for such medical examination from time to time as may be required by the employer.

Provided that the medical examination and report thereon shall relate only to the injury or disability caused by the accident.

(2) The worker shall, when required, attend upon the medical practitioner at such reasonable time and place as shall be notified to the worker by the employer or the medical practitioner.

(3) In the event of the worker being, in the opinion of any medical practitioner named by the employer, unable or not in a fit state to attend on the medical practitioner so named for examination, that fact shall be notified to the employer, and the medical practitioner conducting the examination required by subsection (1), shall fix a reasonable time and place for a personal examination of the worker and shall send him notice accordingly.

(4) If the worker fails to submit himself for such examination, his right to compensation shall be suspended until such examination has taken place; and if such failure extends for a period of fifteen days from the date when the worker was required to submit himself for examination under subsection (2) or subsection (3), as the case may be, no compensation shall be payable, unless the court is satisfied that there was reasonable cause for such failure.

(5) The worker shall be entitled to have his own medical practitioner present at such examination, but at his own expense.

(6) During the period of temporary total incapacity, the employer shall arrange to submit the worker for normal medical treatment by either the employer's medical practitioner or the worker's medical practitioner approved by the employer, at the expense of the employer. Such normal medical treatment shall include any specialist treatment which the medical practitioner may advise the worker to undergo.

(7) If the worker has failed to submit himself for treatment by a medical practitioner when so required under subsection (6), or having submitted himself for such treatment has disregarded the instructions of such medical practitioner, then if it is proved that such failure or disregard was unreasonable in the circumstances of the case and that the injury has been aggravated thereby, the injury and resulting incapacity shall be deemed to be of the same nature and duration as they might reasonably have been expected to be if the worker had submitted himself for treatment by, and duly carried out the instructions of, such medical practitioner, and compensation, if any, shall be payable accordingly.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION ACT 1965

(8) Where under this section a right of compensation is suspended, no compensation shall be payable in respect of the period of suspension.

(9) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section, where a claim for compensation is made in respect of the death of a worker, then if the worker failed to submit himself to examination by a medical practitioner when so required under this section or failed to submit himself for treatment by a medical practitioner when so required under this section or having submitted himself for such treatment disregarded the instructions of such medical practitioner, and if it is proved that such failure or disregard was unreasonable in the circumstances of the case and that the death of the worker was caused thereby, the death shall not be deemed to have resulted from the injury, and no compensation shall be payable in respect of the death.

Agreement as to compensation

15 (1) The employer and worker may, after the injury in respect of which the claim to compensation has arisen agree in writing as to the compensation to be paid by the employer. Such agreement shall be in triplicate, one copy to be kept by the employer and one copy to be kept by the worker and the third copy to be transmitted to and retained by such officer as may be prescribed:

Provided that—

- (a) the compensation agreed upon shall not be less than the amount payable under this Act; and
- (b) where the worker is unable to read the agreement shall not be binding him unless it is endorsed by a certificate of a practising barrister and attorney or duly authorized officer of the court to the effect that he read over and explained to the worker the terms thereof and that the worker appeared fully to understand and approve of the agreement.

(2) Any agreement made under subsection (1) may on application to the court be made an order of the court.

(3) Where compensation has been agreed the court may notwithstanding that the agreement has been made an order of the court under subsection (2), on application by any party within three months after the date of the agreement, cancel it and make such order (including an order as to any sum already paid under the agreement) as in the circumstances the court may think just, if it is proved—

- (a) that the sum paid or to be paid was or is not in accordance with subsection (1);
- (b) that the agreement was entered into in ignorance of or under a mistake as to, the true nature of the injury; or
- (c) that the agreement was obtained by such fraud, undue influence, misrepresentation or other improper means as would in law, be sufficient ground for avoiding it.

(4) No stamp duty shall be leviable or payable on any agreement under this section.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION ACT 1965

Compensatory payments, pending investigations

15A Immediate compensatory part-payments shall be made by an employer to a person to whom compensation is due, upon verification by a Government Safety and Health Officer, pending the conclusion of an insurance company's investigation into an incident.

[Section 15A inserted by 2004:19 s.7 effective 20 July 2004]

Determination of claims

16 (1) If an employer on whom notice of the accident has been served under section 12 does not within fourteen days after the receipt of the notice agree in writing with the worker as to the amount of compensation to be paid, the worker may, in the prescribed form and manner, make an application for enforcing his claim to compensation to the court.

(2) All claims for compensation under this Act, unless determined by agreement, and any matter arising out of proceedings thereunder shall be determined by the court and the court may, for that purpose, call upon any Government officer or any independent medical practitioner to give evidence if the court is of opinion that such officer or practitioner is, by virtue of his expert knowledge, able to assist the court.

Review

17 (1) Any periodical payment payable under this Act either under agreement between the parties or under an order of the court may be reviewed by the court on the application either of the employer or of the worker:

Provided that where the application for review is based on a change in the condition of the worker any such application shall be supported by a certificate of a medical practitioner if the services of a medical practitioner are available.

(2) Any periodical payment may, on review under this section, subject to this Act, be continued, increased, diminished, converted to a lump sum or ended. If the accident is found to have resulted in permanent incapacity, the periodical payment shall be converted to the lump sum to which the worker is entitled under section 6 or section 7, as the case may be, and such lump sum shall be dealt with in accordance with section 11(3).

(3) Where application is made by an employer under this section for any periodical payment to be ended or diminished, and the application is supported by the certificate of a medical practitioner, the employer may pay into court the periodical payment, or so much thereof as is equal to the amount by which he contends that the periodical payment should be diminished, to abide the decision of the court made on review under this section.

(4) In making a review under this section the court shall have regard only to the capacity for work of the worker as affected by the accident.

Limitation of power of employer to end or decrease periodical payments

18 Subject to section 8(5), section 14(4) and section 15(3), an employer shall not be entitled, otherwise than in pursuance of an agreement or an order of the court—

(a) to end periodical payments except—

WORKERS' COMPENSATION ACT 1965

- (i) where a worker resumes work and his earnings are not less than the earnings which he was obtaining before the accident; or
 - (ii) where a worker dies,
- (b) to diminish periodical payments except that where the earnings of a worker in receipt of periodical payments, together with such payments, exceed the amount of his earnings at the date of the accident, the employer may diminish the payments to such worker by an amount equal to such excess.

General powers of court

19 Save as is provided in this Act and any rules made thereunder, the court shall, upon or in connection with any question to be investigated or determined thereunder, have all the powers and jurisdiction exercisable by such court in or in connection with civil actions and the law, rules and practice relating to such civil actions and to the enforcement of judgments and orders of the court shall mutatis mutandis apply.

Power of the court to submit questions of law

20 A magistrate's court may if it thinks fit, submit any question of law for the decision of the Supreme Court. Such submission shall be in the form of a special case in accordance with rules made under this Act.

Appeals

21 (1) Subject to this Act, an appeal shall lie to the Supreme Court from any order of a magistrate's court.

(2) No appeal shall lie in any case in which the parties have agreed to abide by the decision of the court, or in which the order of the court gives effect to an agreement come to by the parties.

Liability in case of workers employed by contractors

22 (1) Where any person (in this section referred to as the principal), in the course of or for the purpose of his trade or business, contracts with any other person (which other person is in this section referred to as the contractor) for the execution by or under the contractor of the whole or any part of any work undertaken by the principal, the principal shall be liable to pay to any worker employed in the execution of the work any compensation under this Act which he would have been liable to pay if that worker had been immediately employed by him; and where compensation is claimed from or proceedings are taken against the principal, then, in the application of this Act, references to the principal shall be substituted for references to the employer, except that the amount of compensation shall be calculated with reference to the earnings of the worker under the employer by whom he is immediately employed.

(2) Where the principal is liable to pay compensation under this section, he shall be entitled to be indemnified by any person who would have been liable to pay compensation to the worker independently of this section.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION ACT 1965

(3) Where a claim or application for compensation is made under this section against a principal, the principal shall give notice thereof to the contractor who shall thereupon be entitled to intervene in any application made against the principal.

Nothing in this section shall be construed as preventing a worker recovering compensation under this Act from the contractor instead of the principal.

(5) This section shall not apply in any case where the accident occurred elsewhere than on, or in, or about premises on which the principal has undertaken to execute the work or which are otherwise under his control or management.

Remedies against both employer and stranger

23 Where the injury in respect of which compensation is payable under this Act was caused under circumstances creating a legal liability in some person other than the employer to pay damages in respect thereof—

- (a) the worker may take proceedings both against that person to recover damages and against any person liable to pay compensation under this Act for such compensation, but shall not be entitled to recover both damages and compensation; and
- (b) if the worker has recovered compensation under this Act, the person by whom the compensation was paid, and any person who has been called on to pay an indemnity under section 22 relating to liability in case of workers employed by contractors, shall be entitled to be indemnified as regards the amount of compensation, including costs, by the person so liable to pay damages as aforesaid, and any question as to the right to an amount of any such indemnity shall, in default of agreement, be settled—
 - (i) by civil suit; or
 - (ii) by consent of the parties, by arbitration under the Arbitration Act 1986, with a right of appeal to the Supreme Court on a point of law.

Proceedings independently of this Act

24 (1) Where the injury was caused by the personal negligence or wilful act of the employer or of some other person for whose act or default the employer is responsible, nothing in this Act shall prevent proceedings to recover damages being instituted against the employer in a court independently of this Act:

Provided that—

- (a) a judgment in such proceedings whether for or against the employer shall be a bar to proceedings at the suit of any person by whom, or on whose behalf, such proceedings were taken, in respect of the same injury under this Act;
- (b) a judgment in proceedings under this Act whether for or against the employer shall be a bar to proceedings at the suit of any person by whom, or on whose behalf, such proceedings were taken, in respect of the same injury independently of this Act;

- (c) an agreement come to between the employer and the worker under section 15(1) shall be a bar to proceedings by the worker in respect of the same injury independently of this Act..

(2) If in proceedings independently of this Act or on appeal it is determined that the employer is not liable under such proceedings, the court in which such proceedings are taken or the appellate tribunal may proceed to determine whether compensation under this Act is liable to be paid to the plaintiff and may assess the amount of compensation so payable, but may deduct from such compensation any extra costs which in the opinion of the court or appellate tribunal have been incurred by the employer by reason of the proceedings having been taken independently of this Act.

Minister may by order require employers to insure
